Business Wire and CIRI Celebrate 11 Years as National Strategic Partners Working Together to Support the Canadian Investor Relations Community

TORONTO, Canada – The Canadian Investor Relations Institute (CIRI), Canada’s national association representing investor relations professionals, is pleased to announce Business Wire will continue as National Strategic Partner for the 11th consecutive year.

Business Wire’s support enables CIRI to deliver on its mandate to advance the practice of investor relations across Canada. This includes developing resources, delivering professional development events, providing networking opportunities and advocating on behalf of the investor relations profession.

“The last year has been challenging for all, with not-for-profit organizations having been particularly hard hit. With Business Wire’s steadfast commitment to CIRI and the profession, we are able to support the investor relations community through timely, relevant professional development and resources,” said Yvette Lokker, President & CEO, CIRI. “More importantly, we are able to bring the community together regularly to share experiences and learn from one another at this critical time when the profession is evolving and adapting to changing circumstances.”

“Business Wire is proud to continue our support of CIRI. Aligning our own commitment to full and fair disclosure goes hand-in-hand with CIRI’s mandate of transparency and integrity within the Canadian capital markets,” said Greg Blazina, Head of Canada, Business Wire. “As more Canadian issuers continue to turn to Business Wire for secure and accurate dissemination of their news, we are confident in remaining a natural partner for the Canadian Investor Relations Institute.”
